CHICAGO TRANSIT AUTHORITY

A MODIFICATION in the routing of southbound Jeffery (No. 5) and Jeffery Express (No. 5A) bus lines becomes effective Sunday, October 13, at the request of civic organizations representing residents in the area between East 95th Street and East 100th Street and east of Jeffery Avenue and Van Vlissingen Road.

Under the new arrangement, southbound local and express Jeffery buses will operate south in Jeffery Avenue to East 95th Street, east in 95th to South Yates Boulevard, south in Yates to East 100th Street and thence over their regularly established routes.

Jeffery Express buses, from their southern terminal at East 100th Street and Yates Boulevard, will operate northbound as follows: West in East 100th Street to Van Vlissingen Road, northwest in Van Vlissingen to Jeffery Avenue, and thence north in Jeffery. There is no change in this northbound routing.

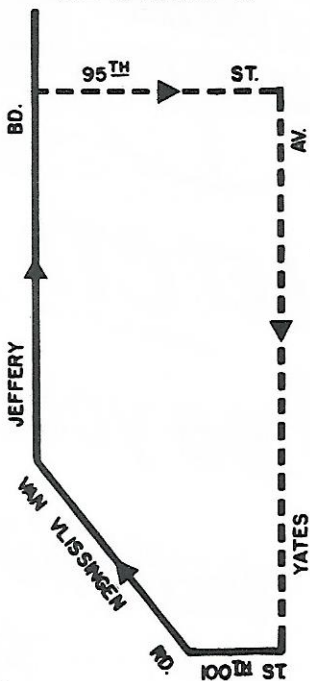

Jeffery local buses, southbound from 100th Street and Yates Boulevard, will travel east in 100th Street over the presently operated route to the southern terminal at Green Bay Avenue and 113th Street.

Inasmuch as the area directly west of Van Vlissingen Road between 95th Street and 100th Street is mostly vacant property, it is felt that the modification of the southbound routing of Jeffery buses will provide more convenient service for the large majority of the residents of the area bounded by Van Vlissingen Road, 95th Street, Yates Boulevard and 100th Street as well as those living immediately east of Yates Boulevard.

There will be no change in the frequency of operation of Jeffery local and Jeffery express buses.
