P.M. RUSH-HOUR ENTRANCE TO MART STATION

EFFECTIVE TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1959, a new, convenient afternoon rush-hour access to CTA's Merchandise Mart rapid transit station will be available through the stairway at the northeast corner of Kinzie and Wells streets.

The stairway, which is always open as an exit, will be open as an entrance on Mondays through Fridays during the afternoon rush period from 3:10 P.M. to 5:50 P.M.

This new entrance will accommodate CTA and North Shore line passengers who work or conduct business north of Kinzie street and east of Wells street. These people presently must walk to the Merchandise Mart entrance on Wells street between Kinzie street and the river or the Grand avenue station at Grand avenue and Franklin street.

The new Merchandise Mart entrance will be more convenient for CTA patrons who use the Grand avenue station where only "A" trains stop. The Merchandise Mart station is served by both "A" and "B" Ravenswood trains and Evanston Express trains.
